ONE OF THE HOTTEST BAY STATE CAMPAIGN HAS WHIRLWIND END

Roosevelt and Taft Take Parting Shots at Each Other.

VOTERS MAKE CHOICE TODAY

President and Predecessor Spend
Busy Day In Bay State, Making
Train-end Speeches at Many Points.
Colonel Declares He Does Not Hate Bosses, but Wants to See Them Put Out of Business—Executive Deplores Situation.

Boston, April 30.—Voters of the Bay State are today registering at the polls their choice of presidential candidates. Champ Clark is conceded to have the Democratic preference sewed up, but among Republicans there is a wide divergence of opinion as to the outcome. Roosevelt supporters claim that he will make an even break by capturing 15
out of the 36 delegates, while President Taft's friends are equally confident that their man will get out of the 36 delegates.

With both of the Republican candidates, the president of the United States and an ex-president, harang-
ing across the state, delivering rail-
end speeches to the crowds, Massachusetts was on tiptoe all day. The air was charged with politics. In many of the cities business was practically suspended, while the words
"Taft" and "Roosevelt" hung on the lips of all. It seemed more like the eve of a great presidential election
than of a primary which is to determine the presidential preference of a single state.

Admits Its Importance.
President Taft in one of his speeches acknowledged the farreach-ing effect that this Massachusetts contest will have on primaries to be held in other states.

So far as President Taft's share in the day's campaigning is concerned
it was evident that the president was grieving over the severe strain to which the exigencies of the present situation subjected the dignity of his high office. Repeatedly he referred with regret to the necessity of the president of the United States "taking the stump" and defending himself.

He delivered 11 speeches in the course of the day, practically crossing the state. Large crowds turned out at all places where the president and Colonel Roosevelt spoke. At two or three of the cities President Taft followed only a few hours behind Roosevelt. In Lawrence, the great textile center, for instance, the president spoke from the same stand on the city common that Roosevelt had occupied only a few hours previously.
A drizzling rain fell while the president spoke in that city.

President Taft continued in nearly all of his speeches to score Roosevelt
for misrepresentations and dishonest
politics.

KEEPS UP ATTACK

Roosevelt Takes Parting Shot at Taft
as He Leaves State.

Pittsfield, Mass., April 30.—"Mind
you, I think we can win without Massachusetts, but I don't want to have drag Massachusetts along behind us. I want Massachusetts to pull us along," was Colonel Roosevelt's parting injunction to the state before he left it on the eve of the most exciting and critical primary that had probably ever been held in the state.
The colonel had been campaigning all day. So had the president. At times they almost crossed tracks.
Before the day was finished the president had branded the colonel as a stirrer-up of class hatred, and the colonel, who had been kept advised to the president's statements, in his final speech at Pittsfield denied that he was an instigator of class hatred,
except that he did hate the bosses.
And even these he did not hate. He only wanted them to be put out of business.

Harvester Suit Filed.

Washington, April 30.—A suit for the dissolution of the International Harvester company under the Sherman anti-trust law was filed in St.
Paul, Minn., today, by direction of President Taft.

A commander of the rescue ship Carpathia Captain Arthur H. Rostron became one of the principal figures in the Titanic tragedy. On receiving the wireless call from the sinking vessel he changed his course and ordered full speed for the scene of the disaster. The Carpathia made the fifty-eight miles to the Titanic in three and one-half hours. After the survivors had been taken aboard the ship Captain Rostron ordered a thank-giving service, meanwhile maneuvering the Carpathia among the wreckage in the hope of picking up other survivors, but without success. He has followed the sea for twenty-seven years and has been with the Cunard line since 1895.
He has been in command of the Carpathia for only a few months. Captain Rostron appeared before the senate investigating committee and told at length
the story of the rescue.

Marion, O., April 30.—M. E. Drake
was knocked down by Harry Hedges,
a bartender in a saloon. Drake's head hit the floor with terrific force
and he is believed to be dying from a rupture of a cerebral artery.

SPEEDY BOATS TO INTERCEPT THE YORKTOWN

Washington, April 30.—In order that Mexicans and Americans in that country may not become unduly excited over the presence of American warships in a Mexican harbor, two of the swiftest destroyers on the Pacific coast are now rushing to the south in an effort to prevent the gun-boat Yorktown stopping short of San Diego, Cal.

The Yorktown left San Jose, Guatenala, April 23 for San Diego. Soon after leaving San Jose, however, Commander Thomas Washington of the gunboat got off a wireless dispatch to the navy department saying he would probably stop at Acapulco to take on coal. In view of the serious conditions along the west coast
and the fact that the army transport Buford has been sent there to bring away destitute American refugees, it has been decided that warships
should keep away from Mexico in order to prevent a misunderstanding
on the part of Mexico concerning the attitude of the American government toward Mexico.

The destroyers Preble and Perry left San Diego on a dash down the Mexican coast with the expectation that they may be able to get a wireless message to the Yorktown before
she reaches Acapulco.

Fire Destroys Piqua Store.
Piqua, O., April 30.—Originating from defective wiring in the cellar,
fire destroyed the dry goods store of Mescall & Jones, causing a loss of $23,000. Smoke and water did $3,000 additional damage to the stores of the Campbell Furniture company, Worley & Zimmerlin and F. E. Wool-wick company.

GEORGE R. CHESTER
Author Said to Have Married an Indian Princess.

CHESTER TAKES THIRD BRIDE

Noted Author's Latest Fancy Is Indian Princess.

Milwaukee, April 30.—Last week it was announced that Minnie Cornelius, an Indian princess, a beauty
with a brilliant mind, known in America as the Indian Joan of Arc,
had been married to a Seymour Wisconsin real estate man named George R.
Kellogg. At Green Bay it developed that George R. Kellogg is the real name of George Randolph Chester, author of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford." George Randolph Chester in marrying Miss Cornelius may become technically a squaw man, but in his bride he has a girl worth a fortune in her own right, one whose literary ability has been proved by successful stories and dramas and who is a graduate of the University of California.

George Randolph Chester's first wife, whom he married in Davenport, Ia., in 1895, got an interlocutory decree of divorce on Oct. 11, 1911.
She accused her husband of misconduct with a woman in the Gainshoro studios. On Nov. 1 Mr. Chester returned from Paris with a second Mrs.
Chester, whom he had married on the day after the first Mrs. Chester got her interlocutory decree. The second wife was Lillian De Ermo, a widow who had been named as co-
respondent in the divorce complaint.

In the month that had elapsed
since his return from Europe, Mr.
Chester had left the city. His friends say they do not know where he is.
Mr. Chester's lawyer said he had never heard of Miss Cornelius, and did not believe that Mr. Chester had married again.

Strike Quickly Settled.

Milwaukee, April 30.—Two hundred motormen and conductors walked out and tied up traffic on the streets of the city for an hour,
after which regular service was resumed by the employment of 200 experienced men from St. Louis. The men who walked out applied for their old jobs, but were refused.
Union officials say the trouble has
just started.

BLACKJACKS USED FREELY IN ZION WAR

SMITH EXCUSES TITANIC CREW

Rescued Passengers Will Soon
Be Given Hearing.

WRECK PROBE NEARS THE END

President Ismay of the International Mercantile Company Recalled to Stand—Wireless Operators Admit
Receiving $1,750 From New York
Paper For Exclusive Story of Their Experiences, but Deny Receiving
Baseball Scores on Carpathia

Washington, April 30.—Senator
Smith, chairman of the senate subcommittee conducting the inquiry into the Titanic wreck, announced that he was through examining the officials and crew of the sunken liner.
He notified the officials of the White Star line that the men were at liberty to return to England.

Senator Smith also announced that he would call J. Bruce Ismay, president of the International Mercantile company and one of the survivors of the Titanic disaster, to the stand today. He said he expected to finish with Mr. Ismay during the day.

Much of the day was spent in once more going over the ground of the transaction between a New York paper and Bride and Cottam, wireless
operators of the Titanic and Carpa-
thia, respectively, regarding their
sale of accounts of their personal experiences, with the approval of the Marconi Wireless company. It was
developed that the young men received a total of $1,750 from this
paper.

Harold Bride, the surviving wireless operator on the Titanic, was
called to the stand.

Inquires as to Price.
"How much did you get for the
story you sold to a New York paper?" asked Senator Smith. "I received $1,000," replied Bride.

Bride told of his last sight of Captain Smith of the Titanic. "The last
I saw of the captain," he said, "was
about two minutes before I left the ship. He went overboard from the bridge."

Bride was again taken over the
question of the ice report received
from the Californian, but nothing
was elicited.

Upon being excused from the stand
Bride asked permission to enter in
the record a denial of a charge
which he said had been published,
that he and Cottam had been taking
baseball scores on the Carpathia between the time of the loss of the Titanic and the arrival of the Carpa-
thia at New York.

Fifth Officer Roxhall, who was
placed on the stand a week ago and
had been ill ever since, was recalled.
He was questioned again about the
unidentified ship near the Titanic at
the time she was sinking, the presence of which Roxhall was the first
to reveal to the committee. The witness said that he was sure it was a
steamer, because he said no sailing
vessel would carry the masthead
lights such as he saw from the Titanic.

Zionists Roughly Handled by Independent Factory Hands.

CHARGE ON PRAYER MEETING

Elder Royal and Joseph Bishop Put
Up Gallant Fight to Protect Women Engaged in Crusade Against
Use of Weed, but Are Overpowered
and Latter's Skull Broken—Voliva
Calls Meeting and Exhorts Follow-
ers to Vengeance.

Zion City, Ill., April 30.—Men and
women were beaten with clubs and
blackjacks and a number were seriously injured when employees of independent manufacturing concerns attacked a group of 300 Zionists
who were holding a prayer meeting.
The fight came as the climax of a week of trouble between employees of
the independent concerns which recently have begun operations here
and the church people, formerly followers of John Alexander Dowie.

As a protest against the use of
tobacco by the employees of the manufacturing companies, followers of William Glenn Voliva, successor to Dowie's authority, have been holding
prayer meetings in front of the plants twice each day. Elder Royal
had just called the second meeting
when several score of men rushed
out of the plant, tore down or leaped
over the barriers which had been
erected around the prayer platform,
and drove the Zionists from that part
of the town.

Voliva Exhorts Men.

Immediately after the fight at the
prayer meeting, Voliva ordered the
large alarm bell rung and more than 1,000 men members of the church
gathered at the auditorium to discuss
plans for resisting further attacks
by employees of independent companies, who filled the streets and
threatened to "clean out the town."
A second clash between the church
people and the independents was predicted at the auditorium meeting,
where Voliva urged his followers to
protect their women and children
from the "tobacco-smoking curs," as
he stigmatized the independents.

Elder F. M. Royal and Joseph Bishop were the most seriously injured in
the prayer meeting fight. Both were badly beaten and it is thought that
Bishop's skull was fractured.

More than a third of the 150 Zion
women in attendance at the meeting
were beaten, bruised or trampled on
during the rush by the employees of
the independents. Although Elder
Royal and a number of his men resisted as well as they could, they
were outnumbered and finally were
swept from the large platform where
the meeting was being held.

Father Of Waters Again Rising

Lower Mississippi Region Threatened
With Heavy Flood.

St. Louis, April 30.—The flood-soaked levees of the lower Mississippi are threatened with a greater flood which is on the way down tributary rivers and smaller streams.
The Arkansas and Grand rivers are out of their banks and overflowing
the fertile farms in the bottom lands
in eastern Oklahoma. The Arkansas rose seven feet in 12 hours and is higher than it has been for many years. The Mississippi river at St.
Louis and the lower Ohio at Evansville continue to rise rapidly, and Cairo, Ill., is getting alarmed. The river is rising at Memphis, Tenn.,
where a 40-foot stage is predicted.

Put Ban on Puccini.

New York, April 30.—It has been officially rumored about the Metropolitan opera house that the operas
of Giacomo Puccini may be left out of the repertoire next year.

operators of the Titanic and Carpa-
thia, respectively, regarding their
sale of accounts of their personal experiences with the approval of the Marconi Wireless company. It was
developed that the young men received a total of $1,750 from this
paper.

Harold Bride, the surviving wire-
less operator on the Titanic, was
called to the stand.

Inquires as to Price.
"How much did you get for the
story you sold to a New York pa-
per?" asked Senator Smith. "I received $1,000," replied Bride.

Bride told of his last sight of Captain Smith of the Titanic. The last
I saw of the captain," he said, "was
about two minutes before I left the
ship. He went overboard from the
bridge."

Bride was again taken over the
question of the ice report received
from the Californian, but nothing
was elicited.

Upon being excused from the stand
Bride asked permission to enter in
the record a denial of a charge
which he said had been published,
that he and Cottam had been taking
baseball scores on the Carpathia between the time of the loss of the Titanic and the arrival of the Carpa-
thia at New York.

Fifth Officer Roxhall, who was
placed on the stand a week ago and
had been ill ever since, was recalled.
He was questioned again about the
unidentified ship near the Titanic at
the time she was sinking, the presence of which Roxhall was the first
to reveal to the committee. The witness said that he was sure it was a
steamer, because he said no sailing
vessel would carry the masthead
lights such as he saw from the Titanic.

Senator Smith developed the fact that the hatches were not closed, and thus the water entering through the gash in the ship's side was able to come up inside to the decks above.

Elder Royal and Joseph Bishop Put
Up Gallant Fight to Protect Wom-
en Engaged in Crusade Against
Use of Weed, but Are Overpowered
and Latter's Skull Broken—Voliva
Calls Meeting and Exhorts Follow-
ers to Vengeance.

Zion City, Ill., April 30.—Men and
women were beaten with clubs and
blackjacks and a number were seriously injured when employees of independent manufacturing concerns at-
tacked a group of 300 Zionists
who were holding a prayer meeting.
The fight came at the climax of a
week of trouble between employees of
the independent concerns which recently have begun operations here
and the church people, formerly fol-
lowers of John Alexander Dowie.

As a protest against the use of
tobacco by the employees of the manufacturing companies, followers of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, successor to Dowie's authority, have been holding
prayer meetings in front of the
plants twice each day. Elder Royal
had just called the second meeting
when several scores of men rushed
out of the plant, tore down or leaped
over the barriers which had been
erected around the prayer platform,
and drove the Zionists from that part
of the town.

Voliva Exhorts Men.

Immediately after the fight at the
prayer meeting Voliva ordered the
large alarm bell rung and more than
1,000 men members of the church
gathered at the auditorium to discuss
plans for resisting further attacks
by employees of independent companies, who filled the streets and
threatened to "clean out the town."
A second clash between the church
people and the independents was pre-
dicted at the auditorium meeting,
where Voliva urged his followers to
protect their women and children
from the "tobacco-smoking curs" as
he stigmatized the independents.

Elder P. M. Royal and Joseph Bishop were the most seriously injured in
the prayer meeting fight. Both were
badly beaten and it is thought that
Bishop's skull was fractured.

More than a third of the 150 Zion
women in attendance at the meeting
were beaten, bruised or trampled on
during the rush by the employees of
the independents. Although Elder
Royal and a number of his men resisted as well as they could, they
were outnumbered and finally were
swept from the large platform where
the meeting was being held.

Military Officer Ascertains Number of Draftable Men in Fayette County—Horace C. Ireland Elected Captain.

It became noised about Monday evening that Company M had received secret orders that would probably carry the company off to some point of mobilization within the next few days.

While no such orders were probably received, it is known that orders to recruit many new men at once, have been issued, and Monday afternoon a large card calling for new recruits was posted at the entrance to the armory and a number of new ones have been added since that time.

This movement indicates that it is at last the forerunner to orders for immediate mobilization at Camp Perry or some other point in the state.

It is also known that a military officer has made a visit to the court house in order to ascertain the number of men of a draftable age in Fayette county, and if there is a call for volunteers and more men are needed to look after America's in-

Columbus Trying For Moose Home

Two liberal offers made to the committee appointed by the Loyal Order of Moose to select a site for their national university home, were the results of the committee's visit to Columbus last week and their inspection of proposed sites northeast and southeast of Columbus. Earl S. Davis offered in behalf of Dr. S. R. Hartman a cash bonus of $50,000 and a price of $300 an acre on 1,000 acres of the famous Hartman farm, which contains approximately $50,000 worth of improvements. The other offer is from near Worthington, where a cash bonus of $20,000 is offered with a price of $200 an acre for the Schumacher farm.

The committee was met at the station by commerce men, councilmen and Columbus Moose, and were escorted successfully to St. Mary's Josephinum, Capital university, state institutions and the Hartman farm, where luncheon was served. Returning, Ohio state university and the Worthington site were inspected. W. C. Brown owns 350 acres grower.

A man will be on duty at the armory at all times to receive new recruits, and it is hinted that a large number will be recruited if they apply at once.

An election was held Monday night to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Capt. Howard Allen, and resulted in the election of 1st Lieutenant Horace C. Ireland to the rank of Captain of the company, and 2nd Lieutenant Billie E. Paul to the rank of 1st Lieutenant. A 2nd Lieutenant was not elected, but will be at the next meeting.

The 1912 class which graduates from the Washington High school in May is marked in having almost twice the number of boys that it has girls, and in the high status of its records.

The class is enrolled as follows: James Ballard, president; Walter Blackmore, Harold Craig, prophet; Maynard Craig, lawyer; Robert Culen, poet; Hays Dill, Ned Erskine, Pitt Fitzgerald, Howard Fogle, secretary and treasurer; Lawrence Garinger, Earl Henkleman, Elliott Jefferson, Clyde Lee, James McDonald, Samuel McDowell, Orris McGinnis, vice; Earl Michael, George Miller, Clifford Peddicord, Glenn Roseboom, Walter Sprenger, Ralph Strobel, Roy Tharp, Charles Willis, Ruth Bailey, Nellie Bishop, Louise Bowyer, Gladys Brakefield, Prudence Culhan, boards; Gertrude Dunn, Ivah Haines, Jean Howat, Edna Kiever, Alice Lambourn, historian; Nellie Miller, Hazel Paterson, Anna Taylor, Nona Thompson, Ruth Van Kirk, honors.

Hogan Announces Important Rulings

In an opinion to Auditor of State Fullington, Attorney General Hogan held that municipal budgets must provide for every object for which moneys are to be raised, regardless of any of the limitations of the tax laws. He stated that sinking funds and interest levies are exempt from the above procedure.

By another decision Mr. Hogan gave the city of Sidney the right to immediately donate to the state a site in that city for a National Guard armory, the privilege of passing the bill through council donating the site, as an emergency measure, and immunity from the sixty-day clause of the initiative and referendum act.

The very fact that the site is being donated to the state for public purposes constitutes an emergency, according to the attorney general's ruling.

"You say, 'Tell Mr. Smith that Mr. Jones wants to speak to him.' And here is where the fossil utters my Angora. He says, 'What number do you want?' I can't understand why so many people insist upon being so inquisitive. It must be apparent to the fossil that a mistake has been made somewhere and the polite way would be to say, 'This is No. 000 and we have no Mr. Smith.' But there are countless thousands who always ask, 'What number do you want?' Of course, if the telephone had been answered properly in the first place there would have been a saving of time for everybody."—Cleveland News.

General Conference Of M. E. Church

Minneapolis, April 29.—With numerous delegates present and scores arriving on every train, preparations are complete for the opening of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church here next Wednesday to last for one month.

Probably the principal thing to come before the session during the month is the election of Bishops, the exact number of which is yet to be determined. Another question which will be discussed, say churchmen, is the so-called amusement question and the alteration of the church disapproval, theater going and similar forms of amusement.

The Bishops' table which will be used by the conference in Minneapolis is declared to be a unique piece of furniture. At each session of the general conference it is a custom for some school or mission to furnish the table used by the Bishops during the session. A college at Morristown, East Tennessee, this year will furnish the table, and in it every Methodist conference and mission is represented by a piece of wood. The center of the mosaic top of the table is a piece of wood from Wesley's pulpit, and grouped around it are pieces of wood from the rigging of the John Street Church, New York, and the Strawbridge Meeting House, Baltimore. Other pieces of wood are from the United States Steamship Constitution; the John Hancock house, the first Ashbury Church west of the Alleghenies; St. George's Church, Philadelphia, the oldest Methodist Episcopal Church in the world, in which services have been held consecutively; the Lincoln Debate Tree, the tree under which Robert E. Lee camped during the Mexican War; the Plymouth Town Elm; the Palace of the Montezumas in Mexico; John Brown's Kansas Cabin; and the old slave pen and block at New Orleans. There are 706 pieces of wood in the table representing 161 conferences, 34 of which are foreign.

THE COW JUMPING OVER THE MOON

New York, April 30.—The wholesale price of beef advanced here a cent a pound, to a higher record than any year since 1881. A carcass of native corned beef was quoted at a top figure of 13 cents, which old-timers agreed was the highest price in over 30 years.

The wholesalers' explanation of the cause of high prices is the scarcity of cattle, the cost of feed, especially corn, and the fact that it is a between-season period. It is also declared that 10 per cent of the stock of the west was killed by the incessant cold of the past winter. Wholesalers anticipate a further advance.

Orchestra Of 1,094 Pieces

The coming of the London Symphony Orchestra reminded J. M. Coburn, 13 Westport avenue, of the "greatest concert he ever heard." He has in his possession a copy of the program of the National Peace Jubilee Concert, held in Boston, June 17, 1869. The concert, one of the most remarkable ever held, was projected by P. S. Gilmore, of Boston as a celebration of peace following the Civil War.

A remarkable feature of the concert was the Grand Orchestra, composed of 1,094 pieces, the largest orchestra ever assembled in this country. It consisted of the following instruments: 115 first violins, 100 second violins, 65 violoncellos, 65 violas, 85 double basses, 8 flutes, 8 clarinets, 8 oboes, 8 bassoons, 12 horns, 8 trumpets, 9 trombones, 2 tubas, 10 drums, 25 piccolos and flutes, 20 Eb clarinets, 50 Eb clarinets, 50 Eb cornets, 75 Bb cornets, 75 Eb alto horns, 25 Bb tenor horns, 50 tenor trombones, 25 bass trombones, 25 Bb baritone, 75 Bb bass tubas, 50 small drums, 25 brass drums, 10 cymbals and 10 triangles.

The overture, "Fra Diavolo," by Auber was arranged for the orchestra of 1,000 performing the solo part. Another number on the program was the grand march, "Peace Festival," composed for the orchestra by Janotta.

"The concert was one of the largest ever held," said Mr. Coburn, who is a Vice President of the Kansas City Symphony Orchestra Association. "On the night I was there there were more than 60,000 persons attending. Think of it—enough people to fill six convention halls gathered together to hear one concert."—Kansas City Star.

TO BUILD ANOTHER MAMMOTH ELEVATOR

Mr. C. E. Lloyd Will Erect New Fireproof Concrete Structure of 65,000 Bushel Capacity.

WORK COMMENCES AT ONCE

Building to Be Ready for Reception of New Grain July 1--Total Storage Capacity 100,000 Bushels.

Within the next two weeks workmen will be busy erecting another mammoth grain elevator for Mr. C. E. Lloyd in this city, and when completed the Lloyd elevators here will have a capacity of 100,000 bushels.

of grain, as the new structure will have a storage capacity of 65,000 bushels, while the big building erected four years ago just off of Clinton avenue along the Pennsylvania and B. & O. railroads, has a capacity of 35,000 bushels.

The new building will be fireproof and constructed almost entirely of reinforced concrete, costing between $15,000 and $20,000. The main part will be 36 feet wide 48 feet long and 62 feet in height. The present building is 36 by 40 feet with one and two story sheds surrounding it.

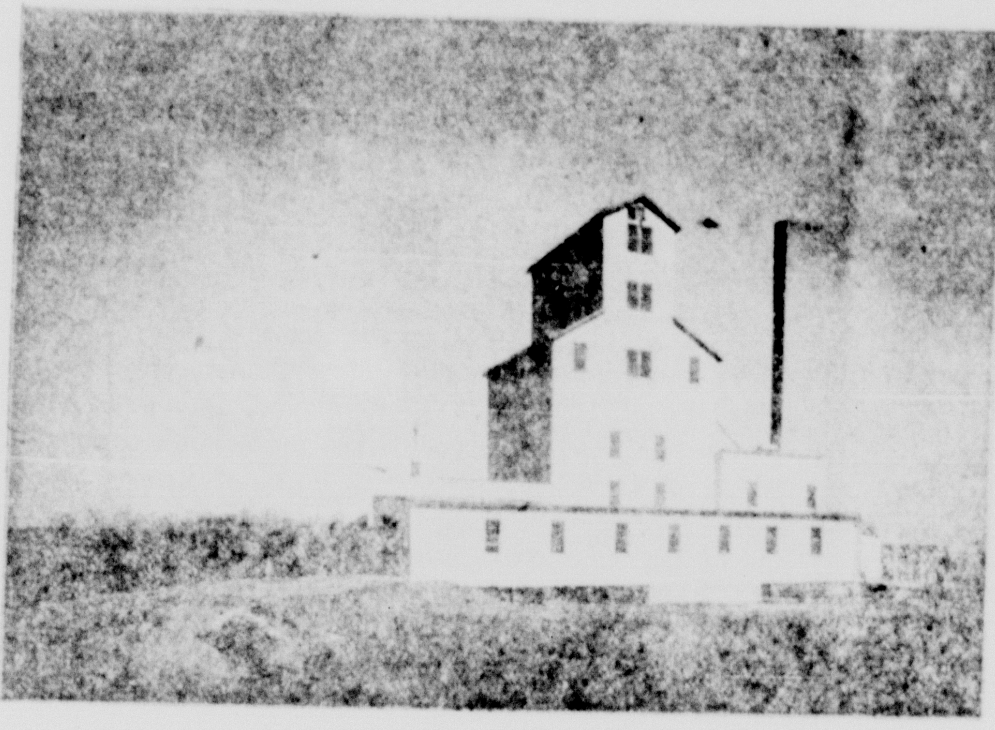

The main structure will contain 12 immense concrete grain bins and will be connected to the present elevator by means of a tunnel and also a gallery. When completed the elevator will be one of the most modern in Ohio, and also one of the largest in a city of 8,000 population. It will stand immediately west of the building constructed four years ago. Mr. Lloyd is one of the city's younger business men, and his career has been one of marked success. Four years ago when he built the big elevator and assumed active management of it, the capacity of the plant was apparently sufficient to handle the grain, but under his able management the business has grown until the demand for more room became so pressing that it was decided to greatly enlarge the capacity by a new building.

The contract calls for completion of the new building by July 1st in order to be in readiness for the new wheat crop.

Attempted Suicide Taken to Infirmary

Martin Miller, residing near Milford, tried to commit suicide Monday when Superintendent Frank Casey, of the County Infirmary went to remove him to the infirmary. Miller objected to accompanying Mr. Casey, but had decided to do so when a relative appeared upon the scene and raised some objection. While his attention was diverted toward the new arrival on the scene, Miller drew his pocket knife and slashed his throat three times in succession before Mr. Casey wrestled the weapon from him, climbed in the rig and drove away with him. The knife wounds were not deep, and not of a dangerous character, the blade being dull.

LORD & TAYLOR NEW YORK

Hartman Theater

The theater patrons of Columbus and central Ohio were so delighted with their discovery that the Hartman Theater Stock Company, now playing its annual engagement at the Hartman theater is an organization equal to any of the winter attractions and that it is offering its productions at popular prices, and that large audiences have been the rule.

"Her Great Match", the bill for the week of April 29th, is the comedy by Clyde Fitch, which Maxine Elliott made popular. It is proving a splendid vehicle for this stock company. The Maxine Elliott role is enacted by Jane Cowl, who rivals the famous Maxine in beauty. The part originally taken by Charles Cherry is in the hands of Olga Cadara, the effective leading man of the stock company. It was universally conceded last week that this stock company is composed throughout of capable and attractive players. Indeed it was admitted that this is true to a degree not equalled by many road companies that play to the $2.00 scale of prices in the regular winter season. This circumstance insures that every character in the cast is competently interpreted. The charming Fitchian humor in "Her Great Match" is captivating the audiences. The roguish comedy that fails to the lot of Miss Cowl is proving irresistible. The stage settings in particular are on a lavish, impressive scale. Fitch was known for the opportunity he provided for stage settings in all the pieces he wrote. "Her Great Match" calls for a fountain-garden scene that is very elaborate. None of the detail in the setting has been overlooked in the stock company production. Next week the great emotional drama "Madame X" will be the bill.

The advance sale and the season reservations indicates the public realize that the program mapped out for the Hartman Theater Stock Company is to provide the highest class productions both in the case of players and scenery, at prices which bring the offerings within the reach of all the "popular summer prices."

CHILDREN'S BUREAU.

An act creating a Child Welfare Bureau was recently placed on our national statute books. This legislation had been earnestly and continuously advocated for several years by progressive men and women, and during its pendency in Congress no reasonable argument was ever advanced against it.

Certain conservative statesmen were shocked that "children were to be treated like pigs", but they were silenced by the retort of the more enlightened that, as a matter of fact, pigs were being better treated by the federal government than children, since the government has for years gathered and disseminated information concerning the welfare of pigs, but the questions relating to the life, health and welfare of children it has left almost untouched.

The new bureau will be part of the Department of Commerce and Labor. Its duties and functions will be wholly educational. It will make investigations, collect information, classify, digest and publish it, and furnish it on application to state, municipal and other authorities, as well as to private bodies or persons. It will study laws and ordinances bearing on child labor, education, play, discipline, juvenile courts and like institutions, and all measures or proposed measures designed to protect, reclaim or healthfully develop childhood. Such studies will in turn suggest and influence further legislation.

It was in the highest degree important to give this new and largely experimental bureau a good start, and President Taft has done this, rising fully to his opportunity and surprising many politicians by appointing as the director and chief of the institution Miss Julia C. Lathrop of Chicago.

She will be the first woman to direct a federal bureau. Her fitness for the position is quite exceptional; indeed, according to The Journal of the American Medical Association, there are few whose qualifications for this position, both natural and acquired, could be fairly compared with those of Miss Lathrop.

Brief Courses on Various Subjects Urged

By WILLIAM P. DUNN

OUR colleges, says Herbert Spencer, cater to the ornamental rather than to the useful in knowledge. And many are doubting if the old standbys and favorite course are really worth while—or rather if the time could not better be spent on other subjects. There are many who make the same criticism of our public schools.

This is an age, we are told, of specialization. The workman of the middle ages, of the great guilds, was a journeyman until he had learned all of his trade, even to the making of the tools required in that trade. Today those trades have been divided and subdivided and each subdivision constitutes a trade in itself. The professional man narrows himself to one branch of his profession and becomes an expert.

It is obviously impossible to acquire even a superficial knowledge of all the arts and sciences of today during one lifetime. However, the next best thing to possessing information on any subject is to know where to locate that information when you want it. To be sure, we have encyclopedias with their interesting, though sketchy, information, to which we may refer. But is it not a good idea to have in our schools a course in indexes of authorities and sources of information? That is, instead of cramming our heads full of facts and knowledge of the different arts and sciences, this course would present us with the keys of the different storage warehouses, where this merchandise is kept.

Instead of a "commit to memory" course, why not merely a skeleton course on broad general lines, with a knowledge of where to go to fill in the details. A too great knowledge of details often means a wrong perspective. With a broad foundation well laid in our school life, and a knowledge of where to go to find the materials needed to complete the structure, we could take up the work at any time in subsequent life and carry it on intelligently. The public library would then become the complement of our school system.

It would seem that we have already entered on this index course in our public schools. The knowledge given there of botany, physiology, Greek and Roman history, poetry, literature, languages, etc., is not very far reaching. But it is sufficient to act as an introduction to those fields and as a stimulus for wider and deeper knowledge of the subjects.

I believe, therefore, that too many subjects are not taught in our public schools. It is the one chance that most of the pupils will have of learning something of these subjects, to get even a bird's-eye view of those green pastures of knowledge. Reading, writing and arithmetic we shall have with us always. We shall have ample opportunity during our lifetime to improve in all three lines. Our daily newspaper will supply the reading, our everyday business, or household economy the arithmetic, and as for spelling, the phonetic, but erroneous, spelling of today may be the rule tomorrow. But the so-called "frills" of education—these are a luxury which, perhaps, were undreamed of but for our public school introduction.

Let us remind those who object to aught but the three R's being taught in our public schools that these brief courses on various subjects may be the seed falling on fertile soil. They may produce in young minds a desire to know more, and may yield fruit from soil that otherwise were sterile. The seed planted may blossom into flowers to cheer an otherwise monotonous life. By all means let us have the frills.

William P. Dunn.

TWO MEN

The optimist is plowing now and later he will plant and hoe, And hope will fill him when he sees the things which he has planted grow.

It may be that unwelcome bugs will come to rob him of his right; The floods may make his toiling vain or there may be a drought to blight.

But while he plows and plants and hoes the optimist is filled with joy.

And does not let his hopes be killed by bugs that later may destroy. Each passing shower adds to his glee, he reaps in fancy and is glad.

The pessimist sits down and sighs and lets his plow rust in the rain; "Why plow or plant?" he sadly says, "when there is little chance of grain?"

Unless it is too dry or wet the bugs will come and get it all; The man who plants in spring is doomed to disappointment in the fall.

If foolish men will waste their time in doing things that never pay Why, let them go ahead, but I'll find pleasure in some other way!"

He shambled homeward from the fields, depressed in spirit, sick of life.

And, having, nothing else to do worked up a quarrel with his wife.

Delegate Thomas Has Plan For State to Get Cheap Loans.

Columbus, O., April 30.—Declaring that the light sentence imposed on Senator L. R. Andrews by Common Pleas Judge E. B. Dillon furnished an additional argument for the recall of judges, Delegate Watson reintroduced his recall proposal. It probably will not reach a vote.

If ratified by the people, the Weybrecht proposal, which was adopted by the convention by a vote of 82 to 6, will give the right to sue the state to any citizen. This is a right which can not now be exercised without authority of the general assembly. Mr. Weybrecht said the old principal that the sovereign can not be sued has been abrogated by congress and many of the states. He declared employees of the state should have a right to seek redress against the state for injury to them without begging of the legislature.

Delegate Thomas of Cuyahoga has a plan whereby states and their political subdivisions may get money for public purposes at a low rate of interest. He introduced a resolution requesting congress to make provision by which the various states, counties and municipalities can borrow money from postal savings banks at 2½ per cent interest by depositing with the treasurer of the United States bonds of said states, counties or municipalities.

Mr. Dunn introduced a proposal providing for confiscation of property of tax dodgers and to imprison the dodgers themselves. Mr. Read would give the legislature the right to encourage ethical culture.

The committee on public works recommended the Walker proposal to allow the general assembly to abolish the board of public works when it sees fit and substitute a canal superintendent. The convention killed by decisive vote the Miller of Fairfield anti-Sunday baseball proposal and Mr. Read's proposition for annual sessions of the legislature.

B. &amp; O. Building Modern Timber-treating Plant

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will install one of the most complete and modern timber-treating plants in America on its line at Green Springs, W. Va., for the preservation of ties and other lumber used in railroad construction. The plant, which, including the storage yards for seasoning timber, will cover 60 acres, will be situated close to large areas of timberland along the South Branch valley of the Potomac river.

The lumber-treating plant will include two treating cylinders, each measuring 7 feet in diameter and 132 feet in length. These cylinders will have a maximum capacity of one million ties per year when operated to full capacity night and day.

There will be two 150 horse power boilers, a creosote storage tank 40 feet by 30 feet, and two working tanks 24 feet by 20 feet in addition to the other small tanks required. The plant is being built to treat timber either with straight creosote process, straight zinc-chloride process or a mixture of the two.

Probably a greater part of the ties treated at this plant will be the inferior oaks. These ties untreated have a life of from three to five years and when thoroughly treated the ties will last from twelve to fifteen years.

The Baltimore & Ohio requires approximately 2,500,000 ties per year for renewals. All of the railroads in this country use annually about 150,000,000 ties, 1-4 of which are now chemically treated. There are upwards of 80 timber-treating plants in the country and new plants are being installed rapidly. The time will soon come, no doubt, when all ties subjected to decay will be treated.

Tuberculosis Society Meets

It is announced that the annual meeting of The Ohio Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, will be held in the Y. M. C. A. building, Dayton, Ohio, on Monday, May 6th, at 8 o'clock.

The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Dayton Tuberculosis League. Dr. John H. Lowman of Cleveland, Ohio, is President of the State Society and will preside at the meeting.

Six trustees are to be elected for a term of five years and in addition to the usual routine business, special reports will be presented covering the present phases of the campaign now being waged in Ohio.

This is the second annual meeting of the State Society since its organization, last year and the great interest manifested in all parts of the state in wiping out "The Great White Plague," gives promise of a big meeting this year.

Things never look bright to one with "the blues." Ten to one the trouble is a sluggish liver, filling the system with bilious poison, that Dr. King's New Life Pills would expel. Try them. ## Sulphur Mined By Pumping Seven or eight years ago the imports of Sicilian sulphur amounted to more than 100,000 long tons. With the growth of the sulphur industry in Louisiana, according to the United States Geological Survey, the imports of Sicilian sulphur in the United States have become almost a negligible quantity, the entire imports from Italy for 1910 being but 10,704 tons. The production of sulphur in the United States for 1910 was 255,534 tons, valued at $4,605,112, the great bulk of which came from Louisiana.

The mining of sulphur in Louisiana is an interesting process. The sulphur deposit, situated near Lake Charles, lies about 410 feet beneath the surface and is about 100 feet thick. Beds of quicksand overlying the sulphur render the sinking of shafts impossible, and the sulphur is therefore pumped to the surface. A well is driven through the numerous strata to the sulphur-impregnated beds, in much the same manner as is usual in sinking wells for oil or gas. In each well there are placed concentrically four lines of pipe, having diameters ranging from 19 inches to 1 inch. Superheated water and hot air are forced down the pipes and the spaces between them to melt the sulphur and to bring it to the surface. The hot water flows down between the two outer pipes, which are respectively 19 and 6 inches in diameter, and passes into the sulphur-bearing mass, melting the sulphur. The quantity of sulphur melted and the range of action of the water depend on the temperature of the water and the pressure which it is supplied. The heat melted sulphur runs back into the sump around the bottom of the well pipe, which it enters through holes provided for this purpose. Hot compressed air is forced down through the smallest or 1-in. pipe and at the bottom of the well mixes with melted sulphur and forms an aerated mass sufficiently low in specific gravity to allow the water pressure to elevate the melted sulphur to the surface, where it is discharged in large rectangular vats, constructed of rough planking. The dimensions of the vats vary somewhat, but they are made as large as 250 by 250 feet, and some of them are so arranged that railroad trains can pass between them. After the sulphur has cooled and solidified it is regularly mined as if it were a natural deposit.

CHILDREN'S BUREAU.

An act creating a Child Welfare Bureau was recently placed on our national statute-books. This legislation had been earnestly and continuously advocated for several years by progressive men and women, and during its pendency in Congress no reasonable argument was ever advanced against it.

Certain conservative statesmen were shocked that "children were to be treated like pigs", but they were silenced by the retort of the more enlightened that, as a matter of fact, pigs were being better treated by the federal government than children, since the government has for years gathered and disseminated information concerning the welfare of pigs, but the questions relating to the life, health and welfare of children it has left almost untouched.

The new bureau will be part of the Department of Commerce and Labor. Its duties and functions will be wholly educational. It will make investigations, collect information, classify, digest and publish it, and furnish it on application to state, municipal and other authorities, as well as to private bodies or persons. It will study laws and ordinances bearing on child labor, education, play, discipline, juvenile courts and like institutions, and all measures or proposed measures designed to protect, reclaim or healthfully develop childhood. Such studies will in turn suggest and influence further legislation.

It was in the highest degree important to give this new and largely experimental bureau a good start, and President Taft has done this, rising fully to his opportunity and surprising many politicians by appointing as the director and chief of the institution Miss Julia C. Lathrop of Chicago.

She will be the first woman to direct a federal bureau. Her fitness for the position is quite exceptional; indeed, according to The Journal of the American Medical Association, there are few whose qualifications for this position, both natural and acquired, could be fairly compared with those of Miss Lathrop.

Brief Courses on Various Subjects Urged

By WILLIAM P. DUNI

OUR colleges, says Herbert Spencer, cater to the ornamental rather than to the useful in knowledge. And many are doubting if the old standbys and favorite course are really worth while—or rather if the time could not better be spent on other subjects. There are many who make the same criticism of our public schools.

This is an age, we are told, of specialization. The workman of the middle ages, of the great guilds, was a journeyman until he had learned all of his trade, even to the making of the tools required in that trade. Today those trades have been divided and subdivided and each subdivision constitutes a trade in itself. The professional man narrows himself to one branch of his profession and becomes an expert.

It is obviously impossible to acquire even a superficial knowledge of all the arts and sciences of today during one lifetime. However, the next best thing to possessing information on any subject is to know where to locate that information when you want it. To be sure, we have encyclopedias with their interesting, though sketchy, information, to which we may refer. But is it not a good idea to have in our schools a course in indexes of authorities and sources of information? That is, instead of cramming our heads full of facts and knowledge of the different arts and sciences, this course would present us with the keys of the different storage warehouses, where this merchandise is kept.

Instead of a "commit to memory" course, why not merely a skeleton course on broad general lines, with a knowledge of where to go to fill in the details. A too great knowledge of details often means a wrong perspective. With a broad foundation well laid in our school life, and a knowledge of where to go to find the materials needed to complete the structure, we could take up the work at any time in subsequent life and carry it on intelligently. The public library would then become the complement of our school system.

It would seem that we have already entered on this index course in our public schools. The knowledge given there of botany, physiology, Greek and Roman history, poetry, literature, languages, etc., is not very far reaching. But it is sufficient to act as an introduction to those fields and as a stimulus for wider and deeper knowledge of the subjects.

I believe, therefore, that too many subjects are not taught in our public schools. It is the one chance that most of the pupils will have of learning something of these subjects, to get even a bird's-eye view of those green pastures of knowledge. Reading, writing and arithmetic we shall have with us always. We shall have ample opportunity during our lifetime to improve in all three lines. Our daily newspaper will supply the reading, our everyday business, or household economy the arithmetic, and as for spelling, the phonetic, but erroneous, spelling of today may be the rule tomorrow. But the so-called "frills" of education—these are a luxury which, perhaps, were undreamed of but for our public school introduction.

Let us remind those who object to aught but the three R's being taught in our public schools that these brief courses on various subjects may be the seed falling on fertile soil. They may produce in young minds a desire to know more, and may yield fruit from soil that otherwise were sterile. The seed planted may blossom into flowers to cheer an otherwise monotonous life. By all means let us have the frills.

TWO MEN.

The optimist is plowing now and later he will plant and hoe, And hope will fill him when he sees the things which he has planted grow;

It may be that unwelcome bugs will come to rob him of his right, The floods may make his toiling vain or there may be a drought to blight;

But while he plows and plants and hoes the optimist is filled with joy

And does not let his hopes be killed by bugs that later may destroy, Each passing shower adds to his glee, he reaps in fancy and is glad.

The pessimist sits down and sighs and lets his plow rust in the rain; "Why plow or plant?" he sadly says, "when there is little chance of grain?"

Unless it is too dry or wet the bugs will come and get it all; The man who plants in spring is doomed to disappointment in the fall.

If foolish men will waste their time in doing things that never pay Why let them go ahead, but I'll find pleasure in some other way!"

He shambled homeward from the fields, depressed in spirit, sick of life,

And, having, nothing else to do worked up a quarrel with his wife.

Delegate Thomas Has Plan For State to Get Cheap Loans.

Columbus, O., April 30.—Declaring that the light sentence imposed on Senator L. R. Andrews by Common Pleas Judge E. B. Dillon furnished an additional argument for the recall of judges, Delegate Watson reintroduced his recall proposal. It probably will not reach a vote.

If ratified by the people, the Weybrecht proposal, which was adopted by the convention by a vote of 82 to 6, will give the right to sue the state to any citizen. This is a right which can not now be exercised without authority of the general assembly. Mr. Weybrecht said the old principal that the sovereign can not be sued has been abrogated by congress and many of the states. He declared employees of the state should have a right to seek redress against the state for injury to them without begging of the legislature.

Delegate Thomas of Cuyahoga has a plan whereby states and their political subdivisions may get money for public purposes at a low rate of interest. He introduced a resolution requesting congress to make provision by which the various states, counties and municipalities can borrow money from postal savings banks at 2 1/2 per cent interest by depositing with the treasurer of the United States bonds of said states, counties or municipalities.

Mr. Dunn introduced a proposal providing for confiscation of property of tax dodgers and to imprison the dodgers themselves. Mr. Read would give the legislature the right to encourage ethical culture.

The committee on public works recommended the Walker proposal to allow the general assembly to abolish the board of public works when it sees fit and substitute a canal superintendent. The convention killed by decisive vote the Miller of Fairfield anti-Sunday baseball proposal and Mr. Read's proposition for annual sessions of the legislature.

He was arrested Sunday and remained in the cooler until Monday night, when the trial was opened. W. B. Rodgers representing the prisoner and Harry Rankin prosecuting the case.

A great deal of time was taken up in arguing a technicality of the affidavit, which contained the four charges. The case was eventually postponed until seven o'clock Tuesday evening.

Heigle Jury Fails To Reach an Agreement

After Nine Hours' Deliberation Stands Eight to Four for Conviction—Heigle Goes Back to Jail and New Trial Will Probably Be Held.

At eight minutes before eleven o'clock Monday night the jury in the case of Ohio against David Heigle, charged with outraging his own daughter, a girl of sixteen years, disgraced and was dismissed from further deliberation of the case, and ordered to report for duty on another case at nine o'clock Wednesday morning.

The case went to the jury at two o'clock Monday afternoon, and after nine hours the vote stood eight to four in favor of conviction, or just the same as the first ballot taken, the difference of opinion being so firmly established that repeated balloting failed to change it.

Upon two occasions the jury went out word that it seemed impossible to reach an agreement, but were held in the jury room until nearly eleven o'clock, when the court ordered the bailiff to call them in to report. Quite a number who had followed the trial were present to hear the verdict.

Heigle was brought in from the jail and appeared anxious to know what the decision was. The prosecuting witness, her aunt and Mr. Proctor, who were constant attendants of the girl, were also present. When the court asked the various members of the jury if they thought it impossible to reach a verdict, all answered in the affirmative.

The jury was then dismissed and the sheriff ordered to remove the prisoner to the county jail.

Owing to the standing of the jury a new trial will probably be held. The trial just ended has been an expensive and tedious one, with much of the testimony of an impracticable character.

Seriously Hurt By Young Mare

Frederic J. Arnold, of near James town, was probably fatally injured Monday morning when a young mare attacked him kicking him repeatedly.

Mr. Arnold's brother, who chanced to be near at the time, rushed to his assistance and drove the mare to one side while he pulled Arnold from the stall.

In addition to having several ribs fractured he was cut and bruised by the sharp hoofs of the animal.

THE MIGHTY HAAG SHOWS

Your visit to the mighty Haag Shows May 10th, afternoon and evening, Washington C. H., will not be complete without a tour of the colossal canvas enclosures, even though you are not a lover and admirer of blooded stock, it is claimed you will find an hour of genuine pleasure and much to interest you in inspecting the droves of horses and ponies. For the last year agents have been in the different parts of the world making purchases for this department, with a result that today that Mighty Haag shows possess one of the largest, most varied and costly collection of representative members of the equine family which wealth can procure, and it is doubtful if anywhere near the like has ever been exhibited before. Certainly never by any traveling shows.

Ladies and children are particularly invited to visit this horse fair, which all may safely do without escort, as uniformed and courteous attendants are always present to look after the welfare of callers.

Stock Sales Draw Big Crowds

The rains making farm work out of the question, hundreds of farmers flocked to the city Tuesday to attend the regular monthly stock sales and a goodly number of horses changed hands during the day.

Most of the farmers had purchased horses to do their spring work, but the delay has been so great that more horses are in demand in order that a large number of teams may be placed in the fields when weather permits.

Foreign buyers as usual purchased quite a number of good animals.

Double Phones Not Wanted

Over 12,000 names of the most representative people of Kansas City, Mo., have been signed to petitions favoring the merger of the two competing telephone companies there.

The matter is before the city council on the proposition of the Missouri and Kansas Telephone Company.

Attached to the petition favoring the merger are the names of 787 grocers and meat markets, 350 physicians and dentists, over 300 real estate and insurance firms, every bank in the city except one small concern, 116 live stock companies, 142 cleaners and dyers, more than 100 ministers, eighty-five lumber dealers, and practically all the wholesale houses in the city. As against 12,324 people favoring the merger, only 217 are on record as opposing it. Commenting on the vast majority in favor of the proposition, the Kansas City Journal said:

"One cannot fault the intelligence of these people by saying that they do not know what they want. It is expected that the city authorities will protect the interests of the city and the telephone company says that it is willing that this should be done. If it is true, there should be no question about a settlement. What the people want in this matter is results. The public will indorse the effort to protect the city's interests, but impossible technicalities, or political jockeying will not be tolerated."

Ohio Orchards Greatly Damaged

A special dispatch from Columbus regarding the effect of the intense cold upon Ohio orchards says:

Fruit trees were hit hard by the prolonged cold winter, and as a result this year's crop will be far below the average. Reports received by N. E. Shaw, state nursery and orchard inspector, from throughout the state indicate this.

Peach trees suffered more than others. Hundreds of these trees from one to six years old were killed. There was also a considerable loss of pear trees. Nurserymen report heavy losses of one-year stock in the nursery row.

Cherry and plum buds have fared about the same as the peach.

Inspector Shaw says that the prospect for an apple crop is good in commercial orchards and others which have had proper care. In the uncare for farm orchards that had a heavy crop last year, there is a very light setting of fruit buds and the crop will undoubtedly be a light one.

This week practically all varieties of apples will be in full bloom in Southern Ohio. The first bloom reported was in Washington county last week, which is one of the large apple-producing counties of the state.

During the past few weeks the deputies of the state nursery and orchard department have been busy spraying orchards and giving spraying demonstrations. Without spraying good results cannot be had from orchards.

If an orchard is properly sprayed it is secure against the attacks of the various pests which make fruit trees their prey. The campaign of education in advocacy of spraying conducted by the department is bearing fruit literally and metaphorically.

If the force of the department was twice as large as it is it could not begin to fill the calls which come from all over the state for the spraying of fruit trees.

Charged With Bootlegging

George Robinson, colored, was arraigned before Mayor Smith Monday to face charges of selling, furnishing, giving away and keeping a place where intoxicants were sold.

He was arrested Sunday and remained in the cooler until Monday night, when the trial was opened, W. B. Rodgers representing the prisoner and Harry Rankin prosecuting the case.

A great deal of time was taken up in arguing a technicality of the affidavit, which contained the four charges. The case was eventually postponed until seven o'clock Tuesday evening.

The police believe that they have a good case against Robinson, and have been keeping an eye on him for some time.

"Oh, Grace! you were right! I have been using Mrs. Mason's Old English Shampoo Cream and just look at my hair now. It is so easy to shampoo your own hair with it and just see all the new short hair coming in and its life and lustre."

"A friend from New York told me the other day that Mrs. Mason was a famous English Hair Specialist and physicians and women of fashion and nobility showered testamentary honors on her because of her wonderful success in making the hair grow. They say her Old English Hair Tonic accomplishes wonderful results."

"I only wish I had known of these preparations before and I do hope we can continue to get Mrs. Mason's Old English Shampoo Cream at Blackmer & Tanquary's for 25c a tube, as I simply could not get along without it."

Interesting Souvenir

Mrs. Jos N. Wilson is sending to her little grand-daughter, Judith Ann Mitchener, in Dayton, a little china basket that was purchased by the little girl's great-grandfather, Mr. Jas. N. Wilson at a fair before the building of the old Presbyterian church, which was destroyed by the cyclone. The fair was given to procure funds to help in the building of the old church and was in old Music Hall, when first built.

Mr. Wilson presented the frail basket to Mrs. Ione Bryant who has preserved it all these years and now sends it to the girl's great-granddaughter.

Xenia Police Find the Goods

The Xenia police made a round of the various blind tigers in that city a few nights ago and succeeded in locating enough booze to start a saloon, although no arrests were made at the time.

In some of the places there was a general stampede and those who escaped have not returned. At the home of one Rachel Allen, a tub of bottled beer and two sacks full was found. The woman pleaded that the doctor had prescribed beer for her health. One of the officers expressed himself as believing that if such was the case her health was certainly good.

ALMOST A MIRACLE

One of the most startling changes ever seen in any man, according to W. B. Holsclaw, Wrennwood, Tex., was effected years ago in his brother. "He had such a dreadful cough," he writes, "that all our family thought he was going into consumption, but he began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, and was completely cured by ten bottles. Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 pounds. For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy for Coughs and Colds with excellent results." It's quick, safe, reliable and guaranteed. ### Deputy Sealers In 61 Counties

Less than a year ago (June 8, 1911) the new weights and measure laws became effective. These laws extended the powers of the State Dairy and Food Commissioner, who is also state sealer of weights and measures. The powers of city and county sealers and their deputies were also broadened.

The county auditor is county sealer by virtue of his office, and he must appoint a deputy, who shall receive a salary fixed by the county commissioners. It is the duty of the deputy to compare and seal weights and measures that meet the legal test and to assist in prosecutions for the violations of the weights and measures laws.

In cities the mayor may appoint a sealer. His duties are practically the same as the county sealers' in addition to such as may be prescribed by ordinance.

Under the law it is the duty of the State Dairy and Food Commissioner to advise and assist all county city and village sealers, and generally to be charged with the enforcement of all laws relating to weights and measures.

When the new laws became effective, Commissioner Strode at once called the attention of county auditors to these new provisions, and urged the procuring of standards and the appointment of deputy sealers.

In less than 10 months standards have been procured by sixty-one counties. These standards have been compared with the standards furnished the state by the national government, and have been sealed by the state sealer.

It is unlawful in this state to use any weight measure, balance or other weighing or measuring device unless the same has been tested and sealed as required by law. Any one violating this law is subject to a fine of not less than $50.00 nor more than $100.00 for the first offense. Each subsequent violation carries a fine of $100.00 to $500.00 and imprisonment for not more than 90 days.

State Sealer Strode is proceeding rapidly with the organization of the remaining counties, and as work on this work is completed every person, firm or corporation using weighing and measuring devices will be in a position to have them sealed and thus escape the penalties of the above law.

All merchants and other persons doing business in this state should apply at once to their county or city sealer and have their weighing and measuring devices tested and sealed, and thus escape the severe penalties imposed by the law for using unsealed weights and measures.—Exchange.

Heigle Jury Fails To Reach an Agreement

After Nine Hours' Deliberation Stands Eight to Four for Conviction—Heigle Goes Back to Jail and New Trial Will Probably Be Held.

At eight minutes before eleven o'clock Monday night the jury in the case of Ohio against David Heigle, charged with outraging his own daughter, a girl of sixteen years, disagreed and was dismissed from further deliberation of the case, and ordered to report for duty on another case at nine o'clock Wednesday morning.

The case went to the jury at two o'clock Monday afternoon, and after nine hours the vote stood eight to four in favor of conviction, or just the same as the first ballot taken, the difference of opinion being so firmly established that repeated balloting failed to change it.

Upon two occasions the jury sent out word that it seemed impossible to reach an agreement, but were held in the jury room until nearly eleven o'clock, when the court ordered the bailiff to call them in to report. Quite a number who had followed the trial were present to hear the verdict.

Heigle was brought in from the jail and appeared anxious to know what the decision was. The prosecuting witness, her aunt and Mrs. Proctor, who were constant attendants of the girl, were also present. When the Court asked the various members of the jury if they thought it impossible to reach a verdict, all answered in the affirmative.

The jury was then dismissed and the sheriff ordered to remove the prisoner to the county jail.

Owing to the standing of the jury a new trial will probably be held. The trial just ended has been an expensive and tedious one, with much of the testimony of an unprintable character.

Seriously Hurt By Young Mare

Fred J. Arnold, of near James town, was probably fatally injured Monday morning when a young mare attacked him kicking him repeatedly.

Mr. Arnold's brother, who chanced to be near at the time, rushed to his assistance and drove the mare to one side while he pulled Arnold from the stall.

In addition to having several ribs fractured he was cut and bruised by the sharp hoofs of the animal.

Stock Sales Draw Big Crowds

The rains making farm work out of the question, hundreds of farmers flocked to the city Tuesday to attend the regular monthly stock sales and a goodly number of horses changed hands during the day.

Most of the farmers had purchased horses to do their spring work, but the delay has been so great that more horses are in demand in order that a large number of teams may be placed in the fields when weather permits.

Foreign buyers as usual purchased quite a number of good animals.

Double Phones Not Wanted

Over 12,000 names of the most representative people of Kansas City, Mo., have been signed to petitions favoring the merger of the two competing telephone companies there. The matter is before the city council on the proposition of the Missouri and Kansas Telephone Company.

Attached to the petition favoring the merger are the names of 787 grocers and meat markets, 360 physicians and dentists, over 300 real estate and insurance firms, every bank in the city except one small concern, 118 fire stock companies, 142 cleaners and dyers, more than 100 ministers, eighty-five lumber dealers, and practically all the wholesale houses in the city. As against 12,324 people favoring the merger, only 347 have signed as opposing it. Commenting on the vast majority in favor of the proposition, the Kansas City Journal said:

"One cannot fault the intelligence of these people by saying that they do not know what they want. It is expected that the city authorities will protect the interests of the city and the telephone company says that it is willing that this should be done. If it is true, there should be no question about a settlement. What the people want in this matter is results. The public will endorse the effort to protect the city's interests, but impossible technicalities, or political jockeying will not be tolerated."

Ohio Orchards Greatly Damaged

A special dispatch from Columbus regarding the effect of the intense cold upon Ohio orchards, says:

Fruit trees were hit hard by the prolonged cold winter, and as a result this year's crop will be far below the average. Reports received by N. E. Shaw, state nursery and orchard inspector, from throughout the state indicate this.

Peach trees suffered more than others. Hundreds of these trees from one to six years old were killed. There was also a considerable loss of pear trees. Nurserymen report heavy losses of one-year stock in the nursery row.

Cherry and plum buds have fared about the same as the peach.

Inspector Shaw says that the prospect for an apple crop is good in commercial orchards and others which have had proper care. In the uncare for farm orchards that had a heavy crop last year, there is a very light setting of fruit buds and the crop will undoubtedly be a light one.

This week practically all varieties of apples will be in full bloom in Southern Ohio. The first bloom reported was in Washington county last week, which is one of the large apple-producing counties of the state.

During the past few weeks the deputies of the state nursery and orchard department have been busy spraying orchards and giving spraying demonstrations. Without spraying good results cannot be had from orchards.

If an orchard is properly sprayed it is secure against the attacks of the various pests which make fruit trees their prey. The campaign of education in advocacy of spraying conducted by the department is bearing fruit literally and metaphorically.

If the force of the department was twice as large as it is, it could not begin to fill the calls which come from all over the state for the spraying of fruit trees.

ALWAYS IS CHEERFUL

Gabby Street Talks to Everybody But Spectators.

Reason for Queer Nickname is Due to Continual Chatter While Working Behind Bat—Is Vivacious and "Skittery."

Street's first name isn't Gabby. It is Charles, harmonious Charles, like whipped cream on the top of a sponge cake. The reason for this queer nickname is easily understood. It is due to Street's cheerful chatter behind the bat. He talks to everybody. There is nothing selfish about him.

When he is not busy with the umpire he talks to the batter, and if the batter doesn't interest him he talks to his fellow players. It is seldom that he addresses the spectators. That doesn't comport with his idea of strict baseball etiquette.

Street's manner of conversation is vivacious and "skittery," like that of a belle who is making her first visit to Washington.

His cheery good nature is one of the finest things about him. He smiles if the oatmeal is hot in the morning and smiles when it happens to be cold. If the sirup is all gone he spreads his cakes with sugar and smiles just the same. It's fine to have a ballplayer of this disposition with a team.

Street's arm has bothered him at times. Once it bothered him so severely that most of the wise men in baseball insisted that he would not amount to much as a future asset.

He undertook to get his arm in condition, and ever since then he has been catching well. That seems to indicate that he knew what ailed his arm better than the experts, and that the experts did not have a good line on his future.

One of the best assets of Street is his knowledge of the batters of the American league. Another one of his best is that he can hold a pitcher with steadiness and usually gets him to throw the ball where he wants it thrown. Not every catcher can do that.

His arm is not so strong that he can get the ball away well from far behind the plate, so he is compelled to take a step and hitch forward to throw to second base. He offsets all this hitch and carry one by his accuracy as a thrower. If he aims to hit the paws of the second baseman, or the man who is covering the base, it is the rare exception when he shoots to one side of the mark.

A Railroad Farm

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad owns 327 acres of land in Brown township, Vinton county, Ohio, which it is planning to operate as a demonstration farm, the land being typical of the section in which it is located. This land is rough and hilly, perhaps one-third of it is on top of the hills being level enough for cultivation. However, the soil is very poor, being of a sandstone and shale origin and lacking in organic matter. All the good timber has been cleared off and the hillsides are covered with a growth of shrubby trees. In order to determine the best method of handling this land, Mr. H. A. Trendley, industrial agent of the B. & O., has secured the services of three instructors from the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University, to look it over and offer suggestions.

New Map of North America

How many people would guess that the Atlantic end of the Panama Canal is on the west coast of Panama and that the Pacific end is on the east coast? Look at the map and see how the east coast of the Isthmus becomes a west coast. Although there is nothing new in the publication of a map of the continent of North America, it is worth of note that the United States Survey has just issued a large map of North America, 28 by 38 inches, in three colors. This is probably the most accurate general map of its character that has yet been published and is practically well adapted for school work. It is on a scale of 1:500,000, which is sufficient to show in considerable detail the major geographic divisions, such as states and provinces. Colorado, thus extends 2 1/2 inches east and west and Cuba 1 1/2 inches the longest way. The map is sold by the Director of the Geological Survey, Washington, D.C. at the nominal price of 26 cents a copy, or at a discount of 40 per cent in case as many as 25 maps are ordered. This wholesale rate covers simply the cost of paper and printing.

The Fly and Garbage Pail

About the extermination of the fly there is room for a difference of opinions. It may not be possible to get rid of man's ancient companion, musca domestica, who has a persistent habit of perpetuating his species and can increase and multiply fast enough to keep the most diligent swatter working overtime. If the very last fly were swatted too, nobody knows what might rise up to vex humanity in its place. It seems to be taking a chance to campaign against the pesky insect, but folks are eager to chance new conditions in this age since the only way to find out what will happen if the flies are all dead is to kill all the flies, let set about the experiment and trust that we shall all be happy when it is over.

One feature of the anti-fly crusade, however, is to be commended without reservation. Boards of health are ordering everybody to provide sanitary garbage receptacles and to use nothing else to hold the kitchen waste. It strikes the troubles of the inextinguishable garbage, troubles and corrects the first evils that have grown up in handling of the by-products of our collective living. The Anti-Fly Crusade.

ALWAYS IS CHEERFUL

Gabby Street Talks to Everybody But Spectators.

Street's first name isn't Gabby. It is Charles, harmonious Charles, like whipped cream on the top of a sponge cake. The reason for this queer nickname is easily understood. It is due to Street's cheerful chatter behind the bat. He talks to everybody. There is nothing selfish about him.

When he is not busy with the umpire he talks to the batter, and if the batter doesn't interest him he talks to his fellow players. It is seldom that he addresses the spectators. That doesn't comport with his idea of strict baseball etiquette.

Street's manner of conversation is vivacious and "skittery," like that of a belle who is making her first visit to Washington.

His cheery good nature is one of the finest things about him. He smiles if the oatmeal is hot in the morning and smiles when it happens to be cold. If the slup is all gone he spreads his cakes with sugar and smiles just the same. It's fine to have a ballplayer of this disposition with a team.

Street's arm has bothered him at times. Once it bothered him so severely that most of the wise men in baseball insisted that he would not amount to much as a future asset.

He undertook to get his arm in condition, and ever since then he has been catching well. That seems to indicate that he knew what ailed his

One of the best assets of Street is his knowledge of the batters of the American league. Another one of his best is that he can hold a pitcher with steadiness and usually gets him to throw the ball where he wants it thrown. Not every catcher can do that.

His arm is not so strong that he can get the ball away well from far behind the plate, so he is compelled to take a step and hitch forward to throw to second base. He offsets all this hitch and carry one by his accuracy as a thrower. If he aims to hit the paws of the second baseman, or the man who is covering the base, it is the rare exception when he shoots to one side of the mark.

A Railroad Farm

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad owns 527 acres of land in Brown township, Vinton county, Ohio, which it is planning to operate as a demonstration farm, the land being typical of the section in which it is located. This land is rough and hilly, perhaps one-third of it is on top of the hills being level enough for cultivation. However, the soil is very poor, being of a sandstone and shade origin and lacking in organic matter. All the good timber has been cleared off and the hillsides are covered with a growth of shrubby trees. In order to determine the best method of handling this land, Mr. H. A. Treudley, industrial agent of the B. & O., has secured the services of three instructors from the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University, to look it over and offer suggestions.

BURNS, CUTS, BRUISES
San Cura Ointment Stops Pain at Once, Draws Out all Poisons, and Heals Promptly.

In all the world there is no ointment, no liniment, no remedy for burns, cuts and bruises that can compare with the antiseptic ointment called San Cura.

Every person ought to have a jar on hand; it is the first and best aid to the injured in case of accident, and is the ideal remedy for so many other distressing and painful ailments besides.

For example: It is guaranteed by Brown's Drug Store to cure itching, bleeding and protruding piles, eczema, tetter, ulcers, salt rheum, boils, carbuncles and pimples, or money back.

In case of old running sores, no matter how long standing, a few poultices of San Cura Ointment will draw out every particle of poison, and leave it in such a thoroughly antiseptic condition that the sore will heal, never to break open again.

We advise every reader to get a jar of San Cura Ointment today and keep it ready for an accident or emergency that may happen. 25 cents and 50 cents at Brown's Drug Store on the money-back plan.

SOAP FOR THE SCALP

New Map of North America

How many people would guess that the Atlantic end of the Panama Canal is on the west coast of Panama and that the Pacific end is on the east coast? Look at the map and see how the east coast of the isthmus becomes a west coast. Although there is nothing new in the publication of a map of the continent of North America, it is worth of note that the United States Survey has just issued a large map of North America, 28 by 38 inches, in three colors. This is probably the most accurate general map of the character that has yet been published and is practically well adapted for school work. It is on a scale of 158 miles to 1 inch, which is sufficient to show in considerable detail the major geographic divisions, such as states and provinces. Colorado thus extends 2 1/2 inches east and west and Cuba 1 1/2 inches the longest way. The map is sold by the Director of the Geological Survey, Washington, D.C. at the nominal price of 26 cents a copy, or at a discount of 40 per cent in case as many as 25 maps are ordered. This wholesale rate covers simply the cost of paper and printing.

The Fly and Garbage Pail

About the extermination of the fly there is room for a difference of opinions. It may not be possible to get rid of man's ancient companion, musca domestica, who has a persistent habit of perpetuating his species and can increase and multiply fast enough to keep the most diligent swatter working overtime. If the very last fly were swatted too, nobody knows what might rise up to vex humanity in its place. It seems to be taking a chance to campaign against the pesky insect, but folks are eager to chance new conditions in this age since the only way to find out what will happen if the flies are all dead is to kill all the flies, let set about the experiment and trust that we shall all be happy when it is over.

One feature of the anti-fly crusade, however, is to be commended without reservation. Boards of health are ordering everybody to provide salitary garbage receptacles and to use nothing else to hold the kitchen waste. It strikes the bottom of the inexcusable garbage troubles and corrects the first evils that have grown up in handling of the by-products of our collective living. The Anti-Fly Crusade.
